Home Tobacco Company in Louisville Brings Two Suits.

Medical Student at Louisville Arrested for Murder—Union Veteran Dead.

TO BUY MITCHELL A HOME

ALLEGED A BOYCOTT.

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 21.—The Home Tobacco company today filed two suits against the Louisville Leaf Tobacco exchange, Louisville Tobacco Warehouse company, and members of the two organizations. In one suit an injunction is sought, in the other a judgment is asked for $35,000 damages.

In both petitions it is alleged that the defendants have formed an unlawful combination in restriction of trade and have boycotted the plaintiff.

CHARGED WITH MURDER.

Louisville, Jan. 21.—William T. Pryce, of Beattyville, a young medical student, is charged with the murder of Antonio Gegg, who was shot and killed at Sixth and Green streets last night. He was presented in the police court this morning and the case continued, pending the result of the coroner's inquest tomorrow morning.

AN OLD SOLDIER DEAD.

Central City, Jan. 21.—W. E. Doss, an old soldier of the Eleventh Kentucky volunteers, Union army, and a highly respected citizen of Muhlenberg county, 64 years old, died at the home of his son, J. B. Doss, this morning.

CHANGED HIS MIND TOO LATE

Owenton, Jan. 21.—News has been received here of the suicide by shooting of Henry O. Wilson, a bachelor, aged 45 years, near Rockdale. He said he was tired of living but before death asked the doctors to do all they could for him.

TO BUY MITCHELL A HOME.

Indianapolis, Jan. 21.—A movement has been started to buy President Mitchell, of the Mine Workers, a home in this city.

DR. McCORMACK

STATE BOARD OF HEALTH PRESIDENT IS EXPECTED.

Dr. McCormack, president of the state board of health, has not yet been heard from in regard to paying Paducah a visit. The representative here has stated that he is somewhat handicapped by the failure of the court to sustain the vaccination law of the state board, and the last resort for him to do was to send for the president of the board who might be able to reach some agreement relative to vaccination.

The state board of health representative here has stated that he has never once said that the smallpox situation could not be controlled, but on the contrary has controlled it remarkably well taking all things in consideration, especially the decision of the court in the vaccination case.

Dr. McCormack will be urged to attend here and will probably arrive within a few days.

CHANGES ARE NEEDED

The Meat and Milk Inspection is a Farce.

The People Are No More Protected with an Inspector Than Without One.

WHAT IS NEEDED

The proposed amendment to the meat and milk inspection ordinance, recommended by the board of health, is creating more or less talk and the butchers, as well as the doctors, are wondering what changes will be made.

The ordinance as it now stands, is the greatest farce imaginable, and has during the year or more that it has been in effect only succeeded in establishing a sinecure. The inspector naturally didn't say anything about how absurd it was for the city to pay a man for doing what he is required to do, and the butchers didn't care to raise any disturbance, because they didn't want the inspector to become any more of a nuisance than he already was.

It is claimed by many of them that there is no way to successfully enforce an ordinance designed for the purpose of giving the people pure milk and sound meat except by making it a misdemeanor to offer for sale, or to sell, any meat that has not first been inspected. This will affect all alike, and give the people ample protection, which is the only object the ordinance has. Said a prominent doctor today:

"Every morning, at present, the meat inspector goes to the market after it has been open for over two hours and much of the meat has already been sold, and places on the remaining meat his stamp. He doesn't stop long enough to find out whether it is beef, pork or venison, or whether it is sound or tainted. He doesn't know anything about the meat that has already been sold and taken away, and as to the inspection on hoof, no man can look at a piece of dressed beef and tell whether he ever saw it before or not, hence the market house inspection is no inspection at all.

"At present there is nothing to prevent butchers from killing beef that has not been inspected on the hoof, and if the inspector does not happen to inspect it on the hoof, he never sees it until he reaches the market, and if it happens to be sold before he gets there, or never taken to the market, but sold to some grocery, he never sees it at all, and the purchaser has not been protected. Farmers bring in meat every day that has not been inspected before killed, and is not inspected afterwards. Butchers claim that the only way to secure protection in the matter of pure meat is by requiring all meat to be inspected before being slaughtered, imposing a heavy penalty for failure to do so, and then inspected when dressed and exposed for sale.

"As to the inspection of milk how one man manages to inspect thirty or forty dairies twice daily, if he does, is something not yet explained. If he does not do it, the people are not protected any more under the ordinance than they were before it was passed."

The general demand seems to be for an ordinance that protects, or none at all. The city pays $50 a month for these inspections, and if the object of them isn't accomplished, the office ought to be abolished and the money saved.

POLICE BOARD

NO TIME IS YET SET FOR THE MEETING.

Nothing definite has been settled relative to the meeting of the board of fire and police commissioners, as Mr. Pete Rogers has not recovered sufficiently to be able to attend the meeting. Mr. Rogers is a great deal better, however, and was yesterday able to be at his store for a short time. It will be several days before he will be well enough to attend the meeting, and no meeting will be called until he has entirely recovered.

TODAY SHOWS NO CHANGE

The Standing of Contestants Remains Same With Light Vote.

THE CONTEST IS AN INTERESTING ONE

The vote in The Sun's contest today shows no change in the standing of the different contestants. Mr. Holliday and Miss Williams both gained on the leaders and the others remain the same.

The friends of some of the contestants are making plans quietly for coups, and the contest will grow more interesting with each day.

Some of the coupons coming in are not dated, and some are dated in the last week. Remember the coupons must be dated and must be of the date of the week they are sent in.

Some of the people being voted for have sent in requests that their names be withdrawn from the contest. This can hardly be done. The Sun is simply counting and posting the votes as they are sent in and it would be an injustice to the senders if they were not counted.

Save your coupons and send them in at least once a week. The leaders at the end of the week receive a cash prize of $1, and your vote may decide who is that winner.

The vote is as follows:

Charles Bundy 3058.

Charles Holliday
Henry Weimer
W. J. White
J. J. Freundlich
B. H. Pixler
T. W. Baird

WANTS 100 MILLION

Aguinaldo Sends to Secretary Root a Petition.

Unfolds to the United States Authorities Plans for Philippine Betterment.

PROMPT ACTION IS NECESSARY

Washington, Jan. 21.—Secretary Root transmitted to the senate and house copies of a petition, received by him through Governor Taft from Aguinaldo, the late insurgent leader in the Philippines. The petition is a remarkable presentation of the conditions now existing in the Philippines, and Secretary Root hastened to send it to congress because it went a long way toward supporting the statements he had made to the committees and also demonstrating the necessity for prompt and exhaustive action on the part of the congress to prevent disaster and distress in the archipelago. The secretary's letter of transmittal attached particular importance to Aguinaldo's professed desire to do everything in his power to aid the Americans in carrying out relief measures and developing the islands.

In his petition he asks for ten million dollars in cash and a credit of eighty million to guarantee a paper issue of money in the islands.

This sum shall be used for the development and improvement of Philippine agriculture and shall be paid within twenty years, the payments being made in three installments at the end of ten, fifteen and twenty years, respectively, and at the rate of twenty-five million at the end of the first period, which would cancel so much of the credit, and twenty-five and fifty million at the end of the two remaining periods. The amount of the credit would not be taken out of the United States treasury, like the loan, and both would be without interest, and could never be transferred to any other foreign nation.

When the loan and credit were approved, and the above mentioned sum here in the Philippines, a bank would be opened which could be called "United States of America Agricultural-Philippine Bank," and which should be under the inspection and supervision of the insular government.

From the $100,000,000 capital will be subtracted $2,000,000 for the construction of buildings for branch banks throughout the archipelago, and for other necessary preliminary expenses.

Subtracting from the annual income of $3,920,000 the annual expense for salaries and other necessary expenditures of the bank, which may be reckoned at about $700,000, there would remain a net annual income of $3,220,000, which, added to the capital at the compound interest, under the same conditions during the following years, at the end of sixteen years would free both the actual and supplemental credit; that is, the bank would have liquidated its debt to the United States treasury, and there would remain a balance of at least $40,000,000 for the continuance of its work. Allowing four years more for ample time makes the twenty years mentioned.

By the time the United States treasury has been repaid, at the end of the stated period of twenty years, the Philippines treasury would have at least $50,000,000, which would serve to guarantee the issue of paper money to that amount.

In case Filipinos wish to acquire the bank by making of it a joint stock company, without otherwise altering its organization and methods, the government would concede to them the title without prejudice to its right to acquire payment of the amounts incurred by the foundation of said bank or other necessary expenses.

The President Invites an Investigation of the Indianola Affair.

A Congressman Offered a Bribe—The Appropriation to Enforce Sherman Law.

ANTI-TRUST BILL COMPLETE

Washington, [Jan. 21.—Democratic critics of the administration in Washington continue to be disturbed about the closing of the postoffice at Indianola, Miss. They are pretending that it is impossible to get at the facts of the case, and are raising a clamor for a congressional investigation. It is a fact, upon which the administration critics have not placed emphasis, that the president has invited the fullest ventilation of the facts concerning the negro postmistress at Indianola. He has even personally requested senators and representatives from Mississippi to call for the papers in the case. But the Mississippians have refrained from taking that step. Probably they feared that these confidential papers would contradict their assertion, that there has been no warrant for the president's act. The resolution introduced by Representative Crumpacker, of Indiana, into the house calling for the papers, which has been referred to committee on postoffice and postroads, will doubtless be passed and bring the facts out. It is understood that Mr. Crumpacker acted at the president's suggestion, the latter believing that publicity will fully justify his course.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 21.—A subcommittee of the house committee on naval affairs in investigating the charges that Representative Leeler of New York, one of the members of the naval committee, had been approached with a bribe of $5,000 for his support of a proposition looking to an appropriation for additional submarine torpedo boats with a view to ascertaining whether there is sufficient warrant for the committee to ask the house to order a regular investigation of the matter. The sensational charge was made by Mr. Leeler himself at a meeting of the naval affairs committee.

Mr. Foss, of Illinois, Republican, chairman of the full naval committee; Mr. Butler, of Pennsylvania; Mr. Taylor, of Ohio; Mr. Wheeler, of Kentucky, and Mr. Rixey, of Virginia, are the investigating committee.

Washington, Jan. 21.—The appropriations committee of the senate and house each has received a letter from Attorney General Knox, suggesting a change in the appropriation of the attorney general in the enforcement of the Sherman anti-trust act and laws amendatory thereto, which passed the house on December 17 last. The attorney general suggests that an act be passed for the appointment of an assistant to the attorney general, a new office, one additional assistant attorney general and two expert and confidential stenographers. With this additional force Attorney General Knox believes that a much smaller sum than $500,000 would be adequate for the purposes intended, and that the results would be in every way more satisfactory than could be obtained by the employment of special counsel.

Washington, Jan. 21.—Representative Littlefield of Maine, Overstreet of Indiana and Powers of Massachusetts, the Republican members of the subcommittee of the judiciary committee, have practically completed the anti-trust bill on which they have been at work since early in the session. If a report is agreed on by the subcommittee it is probable that the judiciary, which adjourned Monday to meet at the call of the chairman, will be convened Thursday.

HAND BADLY HURT.

Mr. Harry Wheeler, the well known I. C. machinist, met with an accident this morning and will be laid off for several days as a result. He was working with a chisel when the tool slipped and caused him to strike his left hand with a hammer. The hand was badly bruised, but no bones were broken.

CUTICURA OINTMENT

Purest of Emollients and Greatest of Skin Cures.

The Most Wonderful Curative of All Time

For Torturing, Disfiguring Humours.

Cuticura Ointment is beyond question the most successful curative for torturing, disfiguring humours of the skin and scalp, including loss of hair, ever compounded, in proof of which a single anointing with it, preceded by a hot bath with Cuticura Soap, and followed in the severer cases by a dose of Cuticura Resolvent Pills, is often sufficient to afford immediate relief in the most distressing forms of itching, burning and scaly humours, permits rest and sleep, and points to a speedy cure when all other remedies fail. It is especially so in the treatment of infants and children, cleansing, soothing and healing the most distressing of infantile humours, and preserving, purifying and beautifying the skin, scalp and hair.

Cuticura Ointment possesses, at the same time, the charm of satisfying the simple wants of the toilet, in caring for the skin, scalp, hair and hands from infancy to age, far more effectually, agreeably and economically than the most expensive of toilet emollients. Its "Instant relief for skin-tortured babies," or "Sanative, antiseptic cleansing," or "One-night treatment of the hands," or "Single treatment of the hair," or "Use after athletics," cycling, golf, tennis, riding, sparring, or any sport, each in connection with the use of Cuticura Soap, is sufficient evidence of this.

Millions now rely on Cuticura Soap, assisted by Cuticura Ointment, for preserving, purifying and beautifying the skin, for cleansing the scalp of crusts, scales and dandruff, and the stopping of falling hair, for softening, whitening and soothing red, rough and sore hands, for baby rashes, itchings and chafings, as well as for all purposes of the toilet, bath and nursery.

KILLED AT JACKSON

Former Paducahan Meets a Horrible Death There.

Switch Engine Out Off One Leg and Badly Mangled Him.

Mr. Victor Woodward, who worked for the N. C. and St. L. here for quite a while and a short time ago went to Jackson, Tenn., to work for the same road under his father, Mr. H. H. Woodward, who is yardmaster there, was killed last evening by a switch engine.

According to reports he was riding on the front end of the locomotive when he lost his balance and was thrown forward, the wheels passing over him, cutting off one leg and badly mangled him. He had many friends here, was about 23 years old and unmarried. The remains were taken to Lexington, Tenn., for burial.

The Paducah Postmen's Association last night installed the following officers: J. G. Curd, president; J. M. Yarbrough, vice president; Charles Thacker, recording and financial secretary; Fred Acker, treasurer; Frank Moore, sergeant-at-arms, and J. Allard Williams, collector for the M. B. A. fund. These are for one year. The association is preparing to entertain the state association May 30. The meeting will last one day and bring here about 75 delegates. The program is not complete, but the following are chairmen of the committees that are making preparations:

J. Allard Williams, of the entertainment committee; Fred Acker, of the reception committee; Frank Moore, of the invitation committee; Charles Thacker, of the finance committee, and J. G. Curd, of the printing committee.

MORE HORRORS.

Manila, Jan. 21.—The defense in the trial by court-martial of Major Edwin F. Glenn attempted to introduce testimony tending to show that money was collected in the island of Samar to prosecute Major Glenn and other officers. Evidence showing the existence of a fund was admitted, but the rest excluded.

Many captured insurgent documents were introduced, confirming previous testimony regarding the insurgents' system of spies, poisoners, assassins and other violations of the laws of war.

A Hopkinsville Doctor Had an Eventful Career.

A Narrow Escape From Indians Turned His Hair Gray in a Night.

WAS A SUCCESSFUL MAN

Hopkinsville, Ky., Jan. 21.—Dr. A. E. Bentley, who died at his home in this city, had an interesting career. He made and lost two fortunes, one in the east, and one in the west. His hair turned gray in a night after a race for life with Indians. Dr. Bentley was born 63 years ago in England, and came to America about the time the Civil War began. Landing in New York and having some capital he had brought with him from the old country, he found in the unsettled conditions that prevailed unusual opportunities for making money. Rumors of pirates on the high seas made many merchants eager to sell cargoes consigned to them, and late arriving, for a great deal less than their value rather than to take the risk of losing them altogether. Engaging in this business, Dr. Bentley made in a few months a great deal of money. Depositing the bulk of his profits in a New York bank, he returned to England, where he remained about a year. After providing for his family and arranging for the education of his younger brothers and sisters, he came back to New York. While en route there the bank in which he had deposited his money had failed. Dr. Bentley, after studying medicine in New York, took the advice of his favorite editor, Horace Greeley, and went west. In a few years, by the practice of his profession and fortunate investments, he accumulated another comfortable fortune.

Accompanied by a guide, he started east, where he expected to locate, having wealth enough to live at ease. All his possessions were loaded in a wagon, which was driven by the guide, and Dr. Bentley was on horseback. About thirty miles from Leavenworth, Kan., they were attacked by Indians. The guide was killed and Dr. Bentley was pursued by the Redskins to the outposts of the soldiers' camp at Leavenworth. It was a terrible experience, and bullets and arrows whizzed by his head. An arrow lodged in the back of his saddle. Galloping up to the soldiers he fell unconscious from his horse, and was not restored to sensibility for twelve hours, during which time his hair turned perfectly white. Dr. Bentley's money and valuables were never recovered.

He went from Leavenworth to Philadelphia, where he was married, and came to Logan county, Ky., where relatives of his wife lived. He shortly moved to Seabree, in Webster county, where he successfully practiced medicine several years and was city judge. He moved to Dixon, and came from there about twelve years ago to this city. He was successful here, both professionally and in business ventures, and leaves a good estate.

HEART SEWED UP.

A WONDERFUL OPERATION WAS PERFORMED IN ST. LOUIS.

St. Louis, Jan. 21.—A surgical operation was performed at the city hospital to save the life of Edward Pilker, aged 19, who had attempted suicide by shooting himself in the left breast. An aperture was made in the wound and between pulsations the wound in the heart was closed with thread stitches. The bullet had also perforated the apex of the left lung. A portion an inch and a half square was cut away, a heavy silk ligature tied about the lung, draining tubes being established and the chest cavity closed. The patient speedily rallied, and it is believed he will recover.

DAKOTA DIVORCE LAW.

Washington, Jan. 21.—The United States Supreme Court in an opinion handed down by Justice White holds that a divorce granted in South Dakota to a non-resident who had only lived in the State six months is not lawful, the six months not constituting a legal domicile. The decision upheld the ruling of the Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts.

Justices Brewer, Shiras and Peckham dissented.

REWARD GRAFT

The Commission Called to Meet at Frankfort Jan. 27.

Resignation of Hon. John K. Hendrick to Then Be Acted On.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 21.—Judge Joseph H. Lewis, of Scott county, chairman of the Goebel reward commission, has issued a call for a meeting of that body here on Tuesday, January 27 next. The meeting will be held at noon on that day in the office of Commonwealth's Attorney Franklin.

The call for the meeting is doubtless due to the new evidence in possession of the commonwealth in the murder conspiracy cases and the expenses necessary to a further prosecution of the investigation. The commission will also have before it at this meeting the matter of acceptance of the resignation of the Hon. John K. Hendrick, of Paducah, which was tendered some time ago and the selection of his successor. It is expected that the Hon. B. W. Bradburn, of Bowling Green, recently appointed circuit judge by Governor Beckham, will also resign as a member of the commission.

The suit of David M. Covington, of Leslie county, against Gus G. Coulter, state auditor, to restrain the payment by him of claims approved by the reward commission, and to be paid out of the $100,000 reward fund, is yet pending in the Franklin circuit court. A demurrer to the petition has been filed by John W. Ray, attorney for the commission, and Judge Cantrill will likely pass on this before the commission meets. Harry Eversole, of London, represents Covington. The suit was dismissed by Judge Cantrill at the opening of the present term for want of prosecution, but was reinstated on motion of Attorney Eversole.

HYPNOTISM KILLED HER.

SHE IS SAID TO HAVE SUC-CUMBED TO NERVOUS COLLAPSE.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 21.—Mrs. Mamie Byrnes, wife of J. E. Byrnes, of Des Moines, Ia., heiress to a fortune of $40,000, left her in France by an aunt, is dead in the city hospital of gastritis.

Miss Sina Darmer, her most intimate friend, says that Mrs. Byrnes was under the constant hypnotic influence of a "professor of healing" for several months before her death, and the terror and nervousness produced by this "influence" was indirectly responsible for her death.

Miss Darmer says Mrs. Byrnes left her home in Iowa and her husband to come to St. Louis, because of the will of the professor, and although she lived in terror of him and frequently betrayed this feeling on her deathbed by crying out, "Don't let the professor come near me; make him look the other way," and other such expressions, yet, says Miss Darmer, she was unable to refuse to do what he commanded and permitted him to see her frequently and put her to sleep when she was tired and nervous.

Miss Darmer says the professor was acquainted with the facts of her coming into the inheritance.

GROCERS TO MEET THIS EVEN-ING—NEARLY ALL STOCK

A meeting of the Retail Grocers' association has been called for tonight to hear a report from Mr. W. H. Farley on the convention of the National association at Kansas City, which he attended.

The articles of incorporation of the Retail Grocers' Purchasing Co. will be filed in a few days. All of the $10,000 stock has been subscribed with the exception of about $1,000, which will be taken up in a short time.

WORK TO BEGIN

IT IS NOT KNOWN WHOM THE CITY WILL EMPLOY TO DO IT.

The street committee of the general council will at once begin preparing to have the repairs made on the brick street and pavements on Broadway from First to Fifth streets. It is not yet known whether the contract will be let to a local firm or will have to be let to outsiders. If possible it is desired that home people do it.

Cleveland Physician Claims to Have

MEDICAL MEN INTERESTED

New York, Jan. 21.—Excellent reports made at each of the three hospitals where patients are being treated for blood poisoning by the formalin cure recently discovered by Dr. Charles C. Barrows, which startled the medical world.

In the case of Alice Bentley, the negro woman who was operated upon at Bellevue hospital by Dr. Barrows, a complete cure has been effected, and it is expected that she will be discharged by the end of the week.

When she was taken to the hospital she had been given up as dead by the physicians who followed the old method of treating septicæmia.

Cleveland, O., Jan. 21.—Dr. George W. Crile, a member of the Cleveland Medical society has contributed an article to the current Cleveland medical journal announcing that through the use of a fluid called "Adrenalin" life can be restored to apparently dead bodies.

The article quotes Dr. Crile as follows: "By the combined use of intravenous infusions of adrenalin, artificial respiration and rhythmic pressure upon the thorax over the heart, animals dead as long as 15 minutes were restored to life. Animals decapitated were made to live ten and a half hours."

Dr. Crile states that the adrenalin is an extract obtained from the glands directly above the kidneys of animals. It has been used heretofore for increasing blood pressure both in human beings and in brutes.

The discovery is the result of recent experiments in vivisection by Dr. Crile and other physicians of Cleveland.

TROUBLE LIKELY.

QUESTION OF THE OWNERSHIP OF THE ISLE OF PINES UNSETTLED.

Havana, Cuba, Jan. 21.—Three hundred American citizens, property owners and residents of the Isle of Pines, are preparing to resist forcibly, if necessary, any further exercise of sovereignty there by the Cuban government.

Formal demand was made upon Minister Squiers today for the protection due to American citizens on American territory. Mr. Squiers is conferring with President Palma.

American residents on the island say they own and occupy more than two-thirds of the land there. They assert that the Cuban government is levying oppressive and unlawful taxes in the Isle of Pines, and spending the proceeds in the island of Cuba.

The protesting Americans say they have settled in the island with their families, and mean to stay. Before investing they received official assurance from Washington that the Isle of Pines was territory of the United States. They refuse to pay further taxes to the Cubans, and ask that steps be immediately taken to establish a government in the island under American authority.

LOUIS BUFORT NOT CAUGHT AND IS CONSIDERED A DESPERADO.

Louis Bufort, the fugitive negro the police want so badly, is getting quite famous, and owing to the sensational stories sent out from Paducah to the big city papers about him is rapidly becoming a desperado of more than local importance. Some of the police do not believe that Bufort is in the city, while others believe that he is. Occasionally they search many houses, but have never found Bufort or anyone who admits having seen him.

JUDGE FOUND DEAD.

Harrisonville, Mo., Jan. 21.—Judge E. T. Lane was found dead near the railroad track here. The cause of death is not known. Judge Lane served two terms as county judge and was elected to the legislature while in jail in Kansas City, where he was sent for refusing to make a levy to pay for certain railroad bonds.

RHEUMATISM

ACUTE AND CHRONIC,
MUSCULAR, MERCURIAL, ARTICULAR AND INFLAMMATORY.

Some people have been suffering from Rheumatism so long that they can scarcely remember the time when they were entirely free from an ache or pain, and have long since forgotten the joys of a painless existence. They are at the mercy of every ill wind, and their misery is aggravated by exposure to cold or sudden changes in the temperature. They become walking barometers and most accurate in weather predictions, the increasing pains in muscles and joints foretelling the approaching storm or the coming of bad weather. It is from these constant sufferers that the great army of rheumatic cripples is recruited. Their bodies are worn out by the incessant pains and that they are at last compelled to give up or hobble about on crutches.

Nobody ever outlived Rheumatism; the disease never loosens its grip or leaves of its own accord, but must be driven out by intelligent and persistent treatment through the blood, for Rheumatism of every variety and form is caused by an over acid condition of the blood, and the deposit in muscles, joints and nerves of corrosive poisons and gritty particles, and it is these irritating substances that produce the inflammation, swelling and pains, which last as long as the blood remains in this sour and acid state.

To cure Rheumatism permanently the blood must be purified and invigorated, and no other remedy does this so well or so promptly as S. S. S. It refreshes and restores to the thin acid blood its nourishing and health-sustaining properties. And when strong, rich blood is again circulating through the body the acid poisons and irritating matter are washed out of the muscles and joints, and the pains at once cease and Rheumatism is a thing of the past. S. S. S. is a purely vegetable medicine and does not derange the stomach like the strong mineral remedies, but builds up the general health, increases the appetite and tones up the digestion.

Through our Medical Department the pain-racked, despondent Rheumatic sufferer will receive helpful advice from Physicians of experience and skill without charge. Write us fully about your case.

He Assures Rheumatic Sufferers That One Bottle of

Paine's Celery Compound

BANISHED HIS PAINES AND AGONIES.

The startling and happy cures wrought by Paine's Celery Compound for rheumatic sufferers have deeply impressed medical men everywhere, and today, the best practitioners are recognizing the great value of the Compound, and prescribe it with confidence.

Paine's Celery Compound stands unequalled as a cure for all the varied forms of rheumatism. At this season its good work is apparent in thousands of American homes. Men and women, lame and crippled, and utterly helpless from the terrible disease are being restored to activity, health and strength. Paine's Celery Compound is the only medicine that rescues and saves the despairing victim who is told that he or she is incurable. Mr. L. A. Fleschman, Gap Mills, West Va., writes about his happy experience with Paine's Celery Compound; he says:

"I had rheumatism in my left arm and shoulder, could not sleep, and had no appetite. I visited my sister who lives in Frankfort, and she told me she had been afflicted just as I was and Paine's Celery Compound had done her more good than anything she had tried, and she advised me to use it. I got one bottle and used it, and the result was I slept well, had a good appetite, and the pains of rheumatism left me and I have not felt them since; in fact it has cured me and I feel like a new man."

An autopsy showed that he had ruptured a blood vessel while trying to maintain a high note.

I know of no medicine that is equal to it, and it is so pleasant to take. I can most cordially recommend it to all persons, needing a medicine for throat or lung troubles." NOT PINING FOR HAIR

BALD-HEADED MAN SATISFIED WITH HIS FATE.

Tired of Silly Jokes Constantly Made at His Expense, Mr. Billikins Shows How the Good Things of Life Gravitates to Him Naturally.

"I'm getting sick and tired of these bald jests at my expense," announced Billikins, as he settled himself back in his chair near the window. "As he spoke the lights were reflected brightly on his shiny pate. The illumination seemed more brilliant because of his presence."

"I can't enter this club but that smiling fellow, Smithy, comes up and says:

"I say, old man, you know what the Bible says about every hair in your head being numbered? Then yours must all be back numbers. Ha, ha, as soon as I come to after you, where, like as not, I find Jonesy. He's pretty sure to come up with some worm-eaten bon mot about my combing my hair with a towel."

"On my way upstairs I most always meet Snodgrass. Snodgrass has an ingrown smile, which he uses on the good things that he keeps to himself. 'Ah, Billikins,' says Snodgrass, 'I thought you were coming this way. You look so much alike that I can never tell which way you're going until I see your features.'"

"You've all heard that juvenile bit of pleasantry about the little boy who wanted his hair cut like grandpa's—with a round hole in the middle. That always brings me visions of Timpson. He relieves himself of it daily in the billiard room."

"Jackson isn't so bad. He usually puts some little mental pearl of this sort on the market:

"Never mind what they tell you, Billikins; just you bear in mind that most great men are born bald.' Jackson has more sense than he knows of. 'As I said, though, I'm sick and tired of it all, and now that I've got you all here I'm going to state my position clearly:

"I'm bald, and I'm glad of it. It's a sign of intellect and distinction to be bald. Think of all the panhandlers, handbaggers and cutthroats that you know of. Is there a bald head among 'em? Most certainly not."

"On the other hand, consider the statesmen, lawyers, doctors and men of learning you've seen. Every one of 'em's a shiny top."

"Look at the hairy men of ancient times. They all went wrong in some way or other. Esau sold his birthright for a mess of pottage, and Delilah tangled Samson all up in his own hair."

"But to come down to modern times. When I buy a seat in a theater do I get lost behind a hedge of pompous and balcony pillars in row Q?"

"Not I. Mr. Ticket Seller gives one glance at my naked thought-dome, sees that I'm eligible for the bald-headed row and knows I won't be satisfied with anything else."

"Then, again, I never have any trouble about my hair falling out. And from what I can see, the falling out of the hair causes most men more worry than fallings-out with their families."

"When I go to get shaved the barber can't talk me into having a shampoo when I don't want it. And even if the inclination were mine, which, thank heavens, is isn't, I couldn't possibly go round with my head covered with hair oil and smelling like a musk factory."—New York Sun.

WAS PAINFULLY CUT.

Bud Elrod, who now lives in the county, was painfully cut on the head, it is alleged by John Whittell, in a fight yesterday in John Elrod's saloon on Second street. As Elrod wouldn't tell the police anything about it, and seemed to have been the only one hurt in the difficulty, no arrests were made.

MRS. JENNIE MORRIS,

Secretary of Poinsettia Benevolence Society,

MILWAUKEE, WIS.

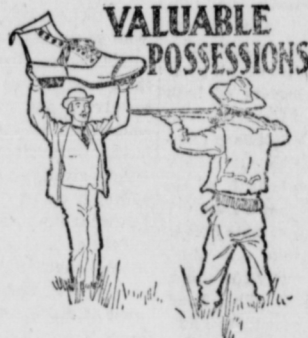

623 Grand Ave., Milwaukee, Wis., March 22, 1902. Only a wife and mother can fully understand the grand benefit which Wine of Cardui is in cases of barrenness and pregnancy. After five years of married life most of the time in ill health, with irregular, scanty and extremely painful menstruation I became completely discouraged. I kept getting worse and worse. The doctor said that if I could have a child I could be much better, but inflammation had set in and I was in such poor health generally that I was simply unfit to be a mother. My sister had a beautiful boy and she told me what benefit she had derived from Wine of Cardui so my husband decided that we would stop the doctor's visits and try Cardui. I wish I had only known of this before. What misery I would have been spared! But I was grateful for the speedy relief I obtained, and so pleased to find that I gradually was returning to health, happiness and new life and hope. Within four months I was like a changed being and now found that the long hoped for happiness was to be mine as I expected a child. I kept taking Wine of Cardui all through my pregnancy and a lovely daughter blessed our home. Childbirth was almost painless, and my husband and I both thank you a thousand times for the sunshine and happiness Wine of Cardui brought to our home.

Jennie Morris.

THE greatest ambition of men and women is to have happy homes blessed with healthy children. Because wives are weak and sick thousands of homes are barren and desolate. How many there are today suffering irregularities and bearing down pains, menaced with the probability of becoming childless wives. Thousands of heretofore childless wives are becoming mothers by having these troubles relieved by Wine of Cardui. This great remedy so strengthens the organs of motherhood that nervous, discouraged women who want children but who fear the suffering caused by childbirth, go through motherhood with little trouble. By strengthening the organs weakened by sickness Wine of Cardui makes all this possible. No medicine can restore dead organs, but Wine of Cardui does regulate derangements that prevent conception, does prevent miscarriage, does restore weak functions and shattered nerves and does bring babies to homes barren and desolate for years. Get a dollar bottle of Wine of Cardui from your dealer and treat yourself in the privacy of your home with this great remedy. Where digestive disorders exist a small package of Thedford's Black-Draught should also be used.

THE WEATHER.

THE SLY FOXES

It appears from the action of the court of appeals in the injunction suits to prevent a Democratic state primary, that the Beckham forces are on top, and that there will be a primary and no convention.

The Beckham faction has walked and wallowed over the other fellows, kicked them and beaten them, and now that it has put them out of business, wants to give them the glad hand and have them vote for Mr. Beckham—and the machine men who have propelled the primary juggernaut over them.

The first flag of truce has been put out by the Fulton Leader, the official organ of Democracy in Southwest Kentucky, which yesterday remarks:

"It is the earnest desire of all good Democrats that the leaders of both factions who have been throwing mud at each other over the primary question should get together and shake hands for the mutual benefit of the party. It is conceded that a state primary will be held to nominate officers in lieu of a convention, and there seems no good reason why the quarrel should be continued. The Leader, of course, feels proud to have cast what little influence it had on the side that won—the right side the side of the people—yet it does not exult in the downfall of its opponents; but rather in the triumph of true Democracy.

"The fight has been won, so let us treat the vanquished with consideration. They made a hard struggle—and lost; but it is not necessary for us to 'throw it in their face,' for that only creates ill feeling. What we need mostly now is harmony—perfect harmony. This alone insures our success this fall. Remember, the Republicans will take every advantage given them, and this useless warfare now going on, merely adds fuel to the fire with which they hope to consume the Democrats at the November election. A common enemy threatens our bulwarks, so let us bury the past, the petty prejudices, and individual aspirations, for the benefit of the party. A united Democracy means victory; divided, defeat."

This all sounds very nice, but the other Democrats, those who have been fighting for a convention, have already expressed their opinion of Mr. Beckham, have told what a revolution there would be in the party if Mr. Beckham and his friends forced a primary and "froze out" the impecunious candidate, and of course they will now be only too glad to forgive and receive the others with open arms. They seem to be as easily gulled as they were whipped.

The suggestion of Alderman Starks that hereafter sureties on city bonds be required to make oath to their possessors, is one that ought to have been considered long ago. In many instances one man is on a dozen or more coffee house bonds, and the same thing is true in regard to police bonds and those of other city officials. These bonds are intended as a protection to the public against the excessive use of power or privilege, and in every case should be such as to insure the public ample indemnity should it be awarded. Men are accepted on these kind of bonds without the least hesitation, no matter whether they own a dollar's worth of property or not. Alderman Starks has taken a step in the right direction. The city ought to see not only that a man is worth something when he is accepted as surety on a bond, but that he is not on more bonds than he ought to be, as well.

It seems that the administration is bound to be a little slow. Mayor Yeiser has now recommended a workhouse or rock pile, something that the papers, and Judge Sanders as well as some of the other city officials, have been urging for several years past. The last time the city started to establish a work house, however, as much opposition was aroused to its location as would have been to a pest house. The best thing for the city to do is to quietly buy the ground and build the workhouse before there is time to protest.

It is always easier to give advice than to apply it. Lieutenant Governor Tillman, who murdered Editor Gonzales, while in Lexington, Ky., some time ago, delivered an address to young men, advising them to never enter politics, and declaring that "it is all loss and no gain." Yet it was politics that landed Tillman in jail for murder.

It seems the principal excuse that some of the Louisville papers now have for existence is to publish fiction about Powers, Howard and a few other Republicans they continue to persecute.

ESTABLISH HEADQUARTERS

OHIO VALLEY IMPROVEMENT
ASSOCIATION TO WORK HARD.

E. P. Wilson, general manager and secretary of the Ohio Valley Improvement Association, intends to establish a general agency in Louisville. A room has been secured in the board of trade building and Mr. Aieck Craig will be placed in charge of the work in that territory. His duties will be to distribute information and to personally look after the interests of the association.

Mr. Wilson said the one important work of the association at the present would be to stress the necessity for the passage of the bill now pending in the rivers' and harbors' committee of congress, which provides for a survey of the Ohio from the mouth of the Miami river to Cairo. "Until that survey is made," said he, "no man can tell what the improvements on the river will cost. It may take $20,000 and it may take $200,000 to make the survey, but whatever the cost we want it made. Other questions will come later. As soon as the engineers who make the survey file their official report it will show the location of every dam necessary to give us slack water all the way to Cairo. We will then have something definite to work upon."

THIEF'S FATAL BITE

A BROOKLYN OFFICER DIES
AFTER EIGHTEEN MONTHS.

New York, Jan. 21—As the result of blood poisoning caused by being bitten by a prisoner about eighteen months ago, Patrolman John T. Collins, a Brooklyn policeman, is dead.

Collins was bitten on the hand by a desperate thief in an attempt to escape. The policeman took two days off and then returned to work, but the poison in his system showed itself at intervals, in painful rashes, and was the cause of frequent fainting spells. Collins, however, remained on duty until Friday last, when he was taken to the hospital, where he died.

WORK PROGRESSING

GETTING READY TO BUILD THE HOPKINSVILLE BRANCH.

Clarksville, Tenn., Jan. 21—Work has been commenced at Back Creek, about eleven miles this side of Nashville, building the track for the Nashville to Clarksville division of the Tennessee Central railroad. The work will be pushed both towards this city and Nashville.

Large shipments of material for the Clarksville to Hopkinsville, Ky., division of this road are en route to this city and quantities of bridge material and steel rails have already been received here.

WILL NOT BE A CANDIDATE.

Washington, Jan. 21—Senator Deboe has announced positively that he would not be a candidate for governor of Kentucky.

HE SNATCHED A QUARTER

And John Seats Will Have Plenty of Time to Repent.

Held for Grand Jury Action Today—
Other Cases in Police Court.

John Seats, colored, charged with robbery, was the star offender before Police Judge Sanders this morning.

Seats is of the bold type of robbers, if reports are true, and last night about 8 o'clock snatched a pocketbook containing 25 cents from the hand of Lula Reed, colored. The woman was walking along near Ninth and Court streets and Seats was standing near the lunch stand which is located just off the pavement on the Court street side, when the robbery was committed. Officers Potter and Gourieux were close at hand and upon being notified of the robbery set out after the negro and soon had him under arrest. He was positively identified by the Reed woman and Judge Sanders held him over to the grand jury under a $300 bond which he failed to give, and was committed to jail.

Joe Church, white, tried to have fun with the Chinaman driver of the laundry wagon yesterday, it is alleged. It is charged that he threw a snowball or lump of coal through the window of the wagon at the Chinaman. Judge Sanders continued the case until tomorrow in order to allow time for securing more witnesses.

W. F. Gaben, white, tried to make a lodging house of an engine cab last night at the Illinois Central shop yard and was given one hour to leave town by Judge Sanders this morning.

VALUABLES GONE

SOME ONE MADE A RICH HAUL
FROM FAIR ESTATE.

San Francisco, Jan. 21—A sensational discovery was made, says the Call, when the personal effects of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Fair arrived from Paris a few days ago. The magnificent Russian sable coat, valued at $10,000, which Mrs. Fair bequeathed in her will to Mrs. Joe Harvey, was gone, and a cheap imitation affair, not worth $30, had been substituted in its place. Mrs. Fair's famous pearl necklace of five strings, valued at $15,000, had been tampered with, and instead of real pearls in the necklace cheap imitation gems had been set in their places. Numbers of articles of jewelry which the Fairs were known to have taken to Europe, were missing, and their only effects which were returned through the American consulate in Paris intact were Mrs. Fair's chinchilla and mink coats and Charles Fair's scarf pins. The changes were made, it is believed, before the valuables were turned over to the American consulate. Steps have been taken to attempt to locate the lost articles.

LEGS CUT OFF

SERIOUS ACCIDENT TO A YOUNG LOUISVILLE MAN.

There was probably a fatal accident in the Louisville yards of the Illinois Central road this morning early as the Louisville and Fulton accommodation train No. 121 was leaving that city.

C. B. Cook, a clerk for the Southern Railroad company, of Louisville, was riding on the train and in attempting to alight in the yards fell under the wheels. Before the cars could be stopped both legs had been so horribly mangled that amputation was necessary and one leg was taken off above and the other below the knee. A telegram to the local hospital officials was received this morning from Surgeon F. T. Fort, of Louisville, giving a brief account of the accident. Cook's condition is serious and the injuries may prove fatal.

LEAVES PADUCAH

MR. CHARLES R. BROWER AND FAMILY TO MOVE TO TIP-TENVILLE, TENN.

Mr. Charles Brower and family, of North Fifth street, will go to Tiptonville, Tenn., probably next week, to locate. Mr. Brower has lived in Paducah for many years, and until a year or more ago traveled for the Scott Hardware company. He is now in charge of a large general merchandise store at Tiptonville, and has decided to take his family there with him. Paducah will lose a good citizen.

THE WAX CAUGHT ON FIRE

And the Office Boy Was Painfully Burned.

Drs. Robertson and Hoyer's Office Damaged By Fire Today.

Reed Robinson, the office boy at Drs. Robertson and Hoyer's office over the Alvey drug store at Fourth and Broadway, was polishing the floor shortly before 1 o'clock this afternoon when a can of wax which he had set on the stove to warm caught fire.

The boy saw the blaze and attempted to throw the flaming can out the door into the hall. Instead it struck the portieres at the door and quickly ignited them. This caught the woodwork about the door, and Captain Dick Howard, who was near the foot of the steps below, heard the commotion and ran up to ascertain the cause.

He found the blaze making good headway, and called a colored man in Dr. Blythe's office to assist him and the boy. They turned on the water in a sink and Captain Howard used a cuspidore to carry the water until he was provided with a pan. After fifteen or more of these had been thrown on the fire he succeeded in extinguishing it and the services of the fire department which had been called by telephone were unnecessary.

The office boy, who lives at Ninth and Clark streets, had his right hand painfully burned, and will probably not be able to use it for a day or two. The damage will not amount to a great deal.

REMARKABLE CASE

FORMER KENTUCKY NEGRO ON TRIAL AND DOESN'T KNOW IT.

Chicago, Jan. 21—Dessett Roolooger, colored, with whom it is impossible for anyone to communicate, because he is deaf and dumb, cannot read and does not know the sign language, is on trial in Judge McEwen's court for two murders. Roolooger is known among his associates as "the dummy." He is charged with killing Leo Robinson and James Jefferson in a barber shop at 13 Polk street. He is defended by John A. Gribue, colored, and Isaac E. Kron. The defense is insanity.

It is asserted that Roolooger's affliction is the result of an attack of typhoid fever, which he suffered at the age of 5 in Kentucky. Since then he has had periodical spells, his attorneys claim, during which he is irresponsible. His right name is said to be James Phillips Allen. No one can find a way of informing him that he is on trial for his life.

CALLED HIM A LIAR

RATHER UNUSUAL INCIDENT
IN CONGRESS.

Washington, Jan. 21—Something of a stir was caused just before Mr. Cochran of Missouri concluded a speech in the house yesterday by an unexpected interruption from the ladies' gallery. Mr. Cochran was speaking of the "travelling policy of the United States toward Great Britain." When that trucking ceased, he declared, the people of Canada, now intensely loyal to England, would change their attitude.

"You lie," cried a stylishly dressed woman in clear ringing tones. All eyes were turned to the ladies' gallery, where the young woman leaned forward defiantly as if she intended to say something further. But a companion pulled her back, and she then left the gallery.

POOR DOCK

HIS BAGGAGE IS ATTACHED AT NEW YORK HOTEL.

New York, Jan. 21—Armed with a writ of attachment and re-enforced by a corpulent deputy sheriff, Henry Brill of 220 Broadway, attorney for a jewelry concern, swooped down upon the newly-arrived Duke of Manchester at the Holland house and seized his baggage for an unpaid judgment of $695 for imitation pearls given by the duke to the duchess.

After the papers in the case were served on the duke by Deputy Sheriff Altman, the deputy said: "All the duke's property now on these premises is in my possession, and I will hold it until he gives the proper bonds. This, I suppose, will be tomorrow."

Mr. Charles Moequon is still quite ill from typhoid.

CIRCUIT COURT

The Bell Damage Suit is Still on Trial.

Effort to Prove That Lineman Was Shocked Thus Far Unsuccessful.

The damage suit of F. G. Rudolph, Admr., of Charles E. Bell, against the Paducah street railway, is still on trial at the courthouse and is only about half finished. This suit was brought to secure damages to the amount of $20,000, for the life of Bell who fell from a telegraph pole one morning about one year ago at Fourth and Broadway and died three days later. The plaintiff is trying to prove that the deceased was shocked while in midair and this caused the fall. The plaintiff's witnesses have all testified and nearly all the witnesses of the defense have been on the stand. The defendant's witnesses, the physicians, testify that no electric burns were found on Bell's person, and the result of the case seems to hinge on whether or not the deceased was shocked.

The attorneys for Lon Fuqua, who was sentenced for the complicity in the murder of George Gray, have filed a transcript for an appeal.

The suit of W. M. Boldry against J. R. Roberts filed yesterday and asking that a receiver be appointed for the firm as no settlement could be reached by the partners in matters of importance pertaining to the business, was docketed and dismissed without prejudice by the plaintiff.

MAY BE ABOLISHED

REPORT THAT DINERS WILL BE TAKEN OFF THE I. C.

It is reported in railroad circles that the Illinois Central is contemplating taking off the dining cars on the Louisville and Memphis divisions of the road and there is not enough business done to justify running them, but the rumor could not be confirmed. It is said that the business in the diners does not pay running expenses.

AN OVERFLOW OF RICHES.

Discovery of Great Oil Well Something of a Misfortune.

That it is possible to have too much of a good thing was discovered by the owners of an oil well in the Russian petroleum district recently. They bored down 1,800 feet before oil was reached. Then the well began to spout and "gushed" at the rate of 180,000 barrels a day. It continued to send out oil at a diminishing rate until it had spouted 2,000,000. But the flow was so great that it could not be controlled and a large part of the oil escaped and overspread the adjacent land, doing great injury. The owners of the well had to pay such heavy damages to the people whose land had been overflowed that the money they got for the oil they managed to save did not amount to enough to bring them whole out of the transaction, and thus, though they struck the greatest "gusher" ever seen in the Baku district, they lost money by finding it.

Story of Tennyson.

In Charles Brookfield's recent volume of reminiscences appears this typical story of Englishmen's conception of Americans: "My father," says Brookfield, "was dining one night at the Oxford and Cambridge club with George Venables, Frank Lushington, Tennyson and two or three others. After dinner the poet insisted on putting his feet on the table, tilting back his chair 'more American.' There were strangers in the room and he was expostulated with for his uncouthness, but in vain. 'Do put down your feet!' pleaded his host. 'Why should I?' retorted Tennyson; 'I'm very comfortable as I am.' 'Everyone's staring at you,' said another. 'Let 'em stare,' replied the poet placidly. 'Alfred,' said my father, 'people will think you're Longfellow.' Down went the feet."

Has Sublime Faith.

One of the "Peculiar People" in Holland recently broke his arm. He declined to call in a doctor, and wrapped a leaf of a Bible round the small toe of his left foot. He declares that this gave him instant relief. He still walks about with a broken arm.

THEATER PARTY AND LUNCHEON.

Miss Faith Langstaff entertained with a party to see "The Emerald Isle" at The Kentucky last evening. The guest of honor was Mrs. Slaughter Campbell of Clarksdale, Miss., and the party included: Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Decker, Mrs. Slaughter Campbell, Miss Langstaff, Miss Decker, Miss Helen Decker, Miss Elizabeth Sinnott, Miss Sophie Kirkland, Mr. George Langstaff, Mr. Abram Weil, Mr. Will Sanders, Mr. Arthur Martin, Mr. Morton Hand, Mr. E. J. Paxton, Dr. I. B. Howell.

A charming luncheon of four courses was served at the Langstaff home on Court street after the play. The table was a symphony in green in compliment to the opera, the centerpiece was an "Emerald Island" of ferns, and lilies-of-the-valley and green ribbons were used in decorations. The place cards were very clever, being hand-painted with a long staff and a camel's head on each, and a bright verse appropriate to the guest named. Covers were laid for sixteen.

OF INTEREST TO EVERYBODY.

Owing to the increased membership of the Y. M. C. A. and its growing needs the woman's committee has been reorganized with a membership of 25. This committee hopes to accomplish much good for the association during the coming year. At the Y. M. C. A. building Saturday afternoon from 4 to 7 the committee will have a silver shower reception. Delightful refreshments will be served. The ladies hope to meet not only each member of the association but everybody in Paducah who feels any interest in this great work. Each person is invited to bring a silver dime. If owing to "press of business engagements" some of the gentlemen can not possibly attend, their dimes will be most gratefully received.

MRS. BOYD'S RECEPTION TO MISS ROPER.

Mrs. Frank Boyd's reception yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock at her home on North Fifth street in honor of her guest, Miss Myrtle Roper of Golconda, was a very delightful occasion. The house was attractively decorated and a large number of guests called during the hour.

ELKS ENTERTAIN.

The Elks' social in honor of the ladies, given last evening at the Elks' hall was a most enjoyable occasion. There was a nice crowd present and the evening was varied by a sleight-of-hand performance and good music. Miss Camille Baird's solo was an especial feature. An elegant luncheon was served late.

Mrs. Albert Jackson Decker and Miss Decker are receiving this afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock at their home on North Seventh street complimentary to their visitor, Mrs. Slaughter Campbell of Clarksdale, Miss.

THE HEALTH BOARD

President Robertson Briefly Outlines its Plans.

Hopes the Aid of the Municipal Boards Will Be Enlisted.

Dr. Jeff D. Robertson, president of the board of health, which has recently reorganized, stated this morning relative to the work of the board:

"The board of health has never been disbanded or broken up, as it has been generally thought. We had just simply become indifferent and did not meet any more. We were not offered any encouragement by the proper persons, who might have given us great aid, and consequently dropped out of sight for the time being. We want perfect harmony between the board of health members and the members of the city council and hope we will be able to secure it.

"Heretofore we had been unable to do so and this is where the main trouble was. We want to draw up an ordinance that will specify clearly the duties of the milk and meat inspector. This is an important office in many ways and we desire to secure the enforcement of the duties as the board sees fit to specify.

"We will confer with the council committee and will arrange the ordinance which will be the first work of the board since reorganization. We will meet for the present, on the first Monday night in each month and will attempt to look after the health of the city in a more satisfactory way than heretofore. I am sure we will now have the cooperation of the council, which is a great item in the way of aid."

ANOTHER COUNCIL

Y. M. C. A. CONSIDERING THE ADVISABILITY OF ORGANIZING ONE.

There has been little going on in the Y. M. C. A. this week. The chief event of the week will be the meeting of the debating club on Thursday night, when it will be settled whether or not a city council will be organized in the club. This is a feature that is meeting with much success in the debating clubs of other associations and of independent debating clubs all over the country. It is thought that the council will be organized and every question of importance brought up in the council at the city hall will also be taken up and discussed by the club council.

The regular Sunday afternoon address will be held and the speaker will probably be Rev. Hall, although this has not definitely been decided.

Saturday night the two association teams will have a basketball game.

Mr. Sam Rosenblatt will arrive today from St. Louis, where he has been attending school, to visit his father, Mr. Max Rosenblatt.

IT PAYS

TO KNOW FACTS ABOUT COFFEE.

When man takes properly selected food and drink nature will most always assert herself and rebuild the structure properly.

"From my earliest remembrance I was a confirmed coffee drinker," writes a gentleman from Marshallville, Ga., "taking two cups at nearly every meal. While at college I became very nervous, dyspeptic, irritable and unfit for study, and attributed it largely to coffee, but did not stop its use.

"When I was married I found my wife was troubled the same way, and we decided to try Postum Food Coffee. My wife made the Postum according to directions and we found it superb. We used it exclusively for the morning beverage, and the taste of ordinary coffee became distasteful to both of us.

"We have found a distinct gain in health. Any amount of Postum does not cause a feeling of either dyspepsia or nervousness, while the return to coffee even for one meal has disastrous effects upon my nerves. My dyspepsia has entirely left me, and both my wife and self are well and strong and feel that it is all due to the Postum." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

It is easy to replace coffee with Postum, which has, when properly made, a rich flavor and the color of coffee with none of its injurious after-effects.

"Granny" Metcalfe.

"I am 87 years old, and have used about all of the soap and long medicine that have been sold during my life; and for the benefit of the suffering I will say that I have never used any remedy equal to Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey. It gives quick and permanent relief in grippe, as well as other coughs. We keep it in our house all the time, and would not be without it. Mrs. M. A. Metcalfe, 730 South 4th St., Paducah, Ky."

DIED TODAY

MISS MARY COX A VICTIM OF BRAIN FEVER.

Miss Mary Cox, aged 42 years, died this afternoon shortly after 12 o'clock at her home, 829 North Sixth street, of softening of the brain, after an illness of several days.

Miss Cox was born in the county just a few miles below Paducah, and had the distinction of being the smallest woman in the city, if not in the state. She was only three and a half feet in height and perfectly formed. She leaves a sister, Mrs. J. C. McMahon, and a brother, Mr. Robert Cox of the I. C., who was lately transferred to Louisiana. No funeral arrangements have yet been made.

SUIT ON A NOTE.

A suit has been filed in county court by Attorney William Bradshaw, Jr., for the E. E. Sutherland Medicine Co. against Ed Nance to secure the payment of a note and debt, the total amount of both being $146. The defendant owns stock in the Winstead Medicine Co., which was attached on the books of the company to satisfy the claim, if a judgment is secured for that amount.

MURDERER NOT CAUGHT.

The police are still on the lookout for James Cowan, who shot and killed Warren Woodward near Smithland day before yesterday, but so far have been unsuccessful in getting a clue that may lead to his whereabouts.

CHINA'S REPLY.

TELLS THE POWERS THAT IT IS NOT POSSIBLE TO MEET THEIR DEMANDS.

Pekin, Jan. 21—China's reply to the note, signed by all the ministers of the powers here with the exception of minister Conger, announcing that the failure of the Chinese government to fulfill its obligation in refusing to pay the war indemnity on a gold basis would entail grave consequences, has been received. It declares that China would accede to the powers' demand if she were able to do so, but that it is impossible to make the payments demanded. The Chinese note quotes the messages of the viceroys detailing the impoverished state of the country. It asks the ministers to suggest a plan for relief and renews the request that the customs tariff be placed on a gold basis, suggesting that the average rate of exchange each month be made the payment rate for the following month.

The ministers are awaiting instructions from their governments.

CHEAP HOMES IN TEXAS AND ARKANSAS

Along the Cotton Belt route—land that can be bought for $2 to $5 an acre and up—cut-over timber ground that makes good grazing land, furnishing range ten or eleven months of the year, farming land for corn, wheat, oats, cotton—some of it peculiarly adapted to quick growth and early maturity of fruits and vegetables, such as peaches, pears, plums, strawberries, tomatoes, potatoes, onions, cabbage, melons—finding good markets in the north at fancy prices, on account of excellence of quality and earlier maturity than in other sections. An ideal place for the man of small means—cheap fuel, cheap building material, long growing seasons, short, mild winters—a land of sunshine and plenty. Excess Of Smoking Affected My Heart

So I Had To Sit Up To Breathe.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure
Cured Me.

There is nothing that has a more deleterious effect upon the cardiac or heart nerves than the excessive use of tobacco. Pain and tenderness around the heart, an oppressive feeling in the chest, choking sensation in the throat, discomfort from sleeping on the left side and smothering spells at night when the sufferer has to sit up in bed to breathe are the most common symptoms of a weak heart.
Smokers who feel these symptoms and who do not understand their meaning should be warned in time, by the following experience:

"I was greatly troubled with an affection of the heart, due I think to excessive smoking.
On writing to your advice I was directed to begin a course of treatment which included Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, Dr. Miles' Nerve and Nerve Liver Pills, together with bathing, etc. I faithfully followed the directions given and am pleased to say that my cure is complete and permanent. Before beginning the use of your remedies I was so nervous I could not keep my hands still and suffered greatly from severe pains around the heart. Many times at night I would be forced to assume a sitting posture to get my breath, and for the time being it would seem as though my heart had stopped beating. From the splendid results achieved in my case I can cheerfully recommend Dr.
Miles' Heart Cure, Restorative Nerve and other remedies to all sufferers from heart or nervous troubles."—Yours truly, ELIJAH

The..... REFORMER

By CHARLES M. SHELDON.
Author of "In His Steps," "Robert Hardy's Seven Days," Etc.

Copyright, 1901, by Charles M. Sheldon

"It is none of your business! This is part of your contemptible meddling as a reformer in other people's affairs!"

"But it is my business! It is the business of every man. Father, do you know the horrible condition of that property and the awful condition of the people living there?"

Rufus Gordon made no answer, but the anger was evidently deepening in him. John Gordon waited a moment.
All his accumulated passion growing out of what he had seen and heard during that one short week in Hope House was in danger of rising like a torrent against his own father. But when he spoke it was with an earnestness that revealed his attempt at self mastery.

"Nos. 17 and 19, owned by you, father, contain seventeen families.
They are, as I suppose you know, front and rear tenements. They are both horribly out of repair and absolutely unfit for human habitation. Take the case of the plumbing. There are no vents to any of the pipes, and only one waste pipe has a trap. That is of no value because of the condition of the catch basins, which are below ground and have simply become so clogged with grease that they are cesspools that overflow the court and even run over into the basement, where two families are living. Back of No. 19 on the alley is a stable in which a vegetable dealer keeps two horses and a cow. These are directly under a room which has been added to the old brick bakery, that is in a terrible state of decay and threatens to fall down. If it does, as it is liable to do at any time, it will certainly result in the death or injury of the tenants. All the plumbing is in direct violation of a distinct city ordinance which makes it an offense to put in piping without traps, vents and catch basins to accumulate material that clogs the sewer connections. The overcrowding is simply indescribable.

"In both these tenements that you own and control there is less than 200 square feet of floor area for families of from five to seven, living in three and two rooms. There are six bedrooms in No. 17 that are absolutely dark and that in spite of the ordinance which provides that every room of a tenement or lodging house must have window space equal to at least one-tenth of its floor area. These rooms not only do not have one-tenth window space, but they do not have any at all.
They are simply dark rooms, the only light and air that ever enter them being what can get in through the door, which in many cases opens on a middle room, which in turn has no light or air except what can enter through a shaft between the front and rear tenements only six feet wide and into which the tenants throw their garbage because the boxes in front are broken and overflowing. Father, these human beings are rotting in these inhuman surroundings, and no language can convey the awful horror of child life, the cruel torture of mother life compelled to give birth to children, to nurture sick babies, to prepare meals, to endeavor to obtain sleep or rest, in the heart of overpowering odors, all in less space and with less light and air than a human being would grant to a suffering dumb animal. Father, the property owners of tenement buildings in this city are paying less attention to immortal creatures made in God's image than they pay to sick cats or imported toy dogs or blooded race horses.
And, oh, father, for the sake of all this tortured life, of these children born without playgrounds, of these mothers who struggle to keep decent and these girls who go down to ruin under the stress of the inhuman crowding, will you not do something? You can do it. The old buildings can be destroyed. They never can be repaired.
They are simply alive with vermin and disease. But new buildings, covering the legal space on the lot, could be put up and be made to pay better than the old ones. You could save the lives of children for the future. You could!"

"Are you lecturing at me?" Rufus Gordon suddenly interrupted, his fat fleshy face white with passion. "I know my own business, and I will attend to it!"

John Gordon took a step nearer and gazed with painful intensity into his father's face.

"Then do you mean to say, father, that you will not raise a finger to right these great wrongs? Will you not?"

"I will attend to my affairs as I think best and without any meddling from any one!"

"Have you ever been there? Have you ever looked at the misery with your own eyes?"

"It is none of your business!" Rufus Gordon started up in his chair and confronted his son. This time the man's cheeks had a deep red spot on them, and his fingers twitched nervously. The stoop of his shoulders, the wrinkles about his eyes, the whole pose and attitude, revealed to John Gordon even more than during that memorable interview when his father had refused to give his sanction to his son's choice the aging of vital forces that once had seemed incapable of weakness.

John Gordon clenched his hand and repressed the words that trembled on his lips. If he spoke, he knew he would say too much. After all, was he his father's judge? Yet if the property owners refused to act what redress, what hope for the future? It was a horrible commercial system that permitted, with the municipal authorities' sanction or indifference, the brutal violation of ordinances that were on the statute books, but never executed, spit upon by officers and citizens alike, a mockery to all decent government.

For a minute father and son faced each other silently. Then John Gordon turned and without another word went away, but as he walked down the steps of the massive stone building his heart was sore within him.

"My own father! My own father!"
he repeated over and over, and tears dimmed his eyes and sobs choked his throat as he said the words.

Nevertheless, with that fixity of purpose which always ignored private feelings in the face of public duty, he considered his morning task only just begun. He must see Mr. Marsh, and he walked straightway to his office, which was near by.

Mr. Marsh had just come, and when John Gordon appeared at the door of his private office he greeted his visitor heartily, saying as he motioned Gordon to a chair: "Glad to see you.
Where have you been lately? Been on the point of dropping you a note asking you to come and dine. You and Luella haven't quarreled, have you?
Come to think of it, she's looked rather sober lately."

Mr. Marsh was a large, handsome man of fifty-two. His manner was heartly, his whole bearing confident, with the air of one who has succeeded in every business enterprise he ever undertook. As a man of large wealth, of university training and some degree of culture, of which perhaps he was unduly conscious, he was reckoned among the solid business men of the city and was always proud to see his name used in that connection.

"Luella has not told you, then?"
John Gordon asked in a low tone.

"Told me what?"

"She refuses to marry me."
"Refuses to marry you?" Mr. Marsh spoke in astonishment.

"Why—why—why, how is that, Gordon? You are old enough to know your own mind."

"I thought so, sir," John Gordon replied almost bitterly, "but Luella thinks otherwise. She will never be my wife."

"It's not so serious a break as that?"
The older man spoke with great kindness and came nearer. He was really fond of Gordon, and the unexpected news affected him deeply.

"Yes, sir. To make a long story short,
I asked Luella to go into Hope House as a resident with me. She refused and—"

"Into Hope House! And you expected her to live there with you?"

"I certainly asked her to. Whether I expected her to or not, I am not quite so certain."

"You asked too much!" The words came sharp and incisive, and John Gordon at first shrank back as if from a blow. "You had no right to expect a girl brought up as Luella has been to make such a complete change in her life as such a course would demand. It was unreasonable."

"Perhaps it was," replied John Gordon quietly. "Nevertheless I made it, and I—"

"You have come to ask my intercession with Luella? I am sorry, but I don't think I can ever grant it. As I say, your demand is unreasonable. I don't object so much to the reform business I have heard you discuss, but there are extremes I cannot sanction.
I would never wish to see my daughter living in such surroundings as those of Hope House."

"I have not come to ask you to make any intercession for me, Mr. Marsh.
The matter between Luella and myself has been settled by her own refusal, and I am not going to trouble her or you by any pleading."

"Why—why?" Mr. Marsh seemed unable to frame a sentence that fitted the occasion, and John said calmly:

"What I came to see you about, Mr.
Marsh, is a matter connected with certain tenement property on Bowen street, in the Waterside district, near Hope House. I have been making certain investigations there, and in the course of them I find that you own or control tenements Nos. 91 and 97."

Mr. Marsh struck a bell on his desk, and when a clerk appeared he asked him to bring a volume from the safe.
When it was brought and the clerk had gone out, he turned over the pages until he came to a certain number.

"Ninety-one and 97. That's right.
Fronting Bowen street and in the Waterside district. Well?"

Captain H. Baker this morning went to Mound City on buses.

The Bonanza will pass down from Memphis to Cincinnati Sunday.

The Pavonia is due out of the Tennessee with ties within a few days. The Dick Fowler cleared on time this morning for Cairo with a good trip.

The Clyde will leave tonight at 6 o'clock for Tennessee river with a good trip.

The Duffey is up the Cumberland river loading ties and will not be out before a week has expired.

The Butterff is due today from Nashville and will leave immediately on her arrival on her return trip, to Clarksville.

The packet Crescent City, of Green river, will leave tomorrow for Evansville. She had been on the ways here for repairs and was let off Saturday.

The I. N. Hook arrived out of the Tennessee yesterday with ties and will go to the Tradewater mines for coal today or tomorrow, if the ice is not too heavy.

The Joe Fowler is today's Evansville packet, but will not get here before night. She reports the ice very heavy and is having a hard time getting through it.

Capt. Ed Woolfolk has sold a fine barge to the Ferguson-Palmer Co. and two to the Helena Hoop Co. of Helena, Ark. This about closes out Capt. Woolfolk's supply of barges.

Mr. L. P. Holland, the chief inspector of the Ayer and Lord Tie company, is expected back from Dover, Tenn., today. He has been there some time inspecting the company property.

The Sunshine has been due here since Sunday. She passed Evansville yesterday at noon and reported that she was having a hard time with the ice. She is due down today some time.

Improvements are being made in the office of the Ayer and Lord Tie company here. A new room is being fitted out in the rear to be used as the private office of Captain H. Baker, the local agent of the company.

The Kenton, which left there ten days ago with a big tow of coal for New Orleans, has arrived at her destination and will immediately start back for this city. She will probably be delayed considerably by the ice and will not get back before a month, it is expected.

The inspectors have just received a copy of a decision from the treasury department, which will be of interest to steamboat men on the Western and Southern rivers, in reference to the use of petroleum for fuel. Permits will only be issued upon the recommendation of the supervising inspectors, with the statements of two responsible experts in the installation of oil burning furnaces.

The builders' trial of the new government towboat, the James Rumsey, took place at Charleston. The river was unusually rough and the wind blew a gale, but nevertheless the performance of the boat was in every way satisfactory. Notwithstanding the unfavorable conditions the boat responded to the rudders perfectly, whether going ahead or backing to the right or left. Captains Wright and Johnson and Engineer Skyles of the government steamers Bee and Mascott were present and expressed themselves as highly gratified with the admirable results. The run over the government mile was made in four and one-half minutes, equaling thirteen and one-half miles an hour, with 225 revolutions of the engines. With 300 revolutions it is expected that from fourteen to fifteen miles may be obtained. The contract requirement is twelve miles an hour.

Theatrical Notes.

It cannot be truthfully said that "The Emerald Isle" as sung by Mr. Jeff De Angelis and company, is the best or the largest comic opera ever heard in Paducah, but there was a large crowd at The Kentucky last night, and everybody enjoyed the performance very much and found an evening's entertainment well worth having. The audience was one of the most fashionable of the season, all of the boxes being full, and Mr. De Angelis was enthusiastically greeted, it being his first appearance in Paducah.

There are but two acts to the opera, the music of which is merry and catchy, but these two acts are brim full of fun and melody. Mr. De Angelis is not a singer. He is a comedian, and while those who have seen him at his best say that as Prof. Bunn he lacks opportunity, his impersonation was very clever, and whenever he was in sight there was something to laugh at. Mr. John Dudley as Terrence O'Brien won deserved applause with his superb tenor, while others pleasing in their work were Miss Kate Condon as Molly O'Grady, Miss Josephine Knapp as Lady Rosa, Miss Amelia Field as the Countess of Newtown, Mr. Charles Dungan as the Earl of Newtown, Bernard Sullivan as Pat Murphy, the blind fiddler, Frank Belcher, the sergeant, and F. Stewart Hiatt as Dr. Fiddle, D. D. All the members made the most of their parts, but there is no opportunity offered in the opera for any elaborate display of scenery or costume. The music and clever work, however, amply make up for these other things. The chorus was large and well trained.

One of the best features of the evening was a curtain speech made by Mr. De Angelis, in which he jocularly said that he and his company were simply out to dispense happiness, and not to increase their wealth, and as they inferred that they were dispensing happiness in Paducah, they were themselves happy, which brought about the gratifying and somewhat unusual effect of mutual happiness.

The title of "A Royal Slave" suggests a story of the sunny South, embodying all that is wooing in the song of the nightingale; all that is lively in the tropic land of Mexico, with its sighing palms and soft vistas of purple leagues; all that is beautiful and grand in nature. The plot of the play is most novel and original, and there is a strong vein of comedy running through it, which leads greatly to its success. You get so fascinated with the story that you do not want to miss any part of it. At The Kentucky Friday night. Seats on sale tomorrow.

The record of the famous "Belle of New York" company, which comes to The Kentucky on Monday night, January 26, is unique in its way. The company is the most successful organization ever sent from the popular Casino theater, New York. Its reputation is well known to all and covers both continents. After a successful run in American metropolises this merry musical comedy was taken to London, and there it established a record hitherto unprecedented abroad for an American comedy of 975 performances. Seats went on sale this morning.

Julian Thorne, in "The Silver Dagger," is one of the most magnificent lovers the stage has ever given us. With his own eyes he sees his sweetheart commit a crime. Although his nature revolts at the murder, his heartstrings are so tied about her he can't tear himself away; his love is so deep he voluntarily assumes her guilt. This motive furnishes a heart interest unequalled in any modern play. Through a freak of fate his devotion is rewarded. "The Silver Dagger" will receive its first presentation here at The Kentucky Saturday matinee and night at popular prices.

Manager English of The Kentucky announce Glen MacDonough's original play of New York life, "Among Those Present." The production will be sumptuously staged with scenes representing high life in New York and its suburbs. In the company are the following: Harold Russell, Carlotta Nilsson, William Hazeltine, George Douglas Parker, George Gaston, Algernon Tassin, William Claggett, Martia Leonard, Cornelia Hunter, Marion Ashworth, Mary Blyth, Anna Zorn and Edwin James.
